

Bonjour to you and merci for your interest!!!

So hosting an acoustic concert in your living room sounds like a good idea to you? Let me tell you more about it.

My name is Merime.

In 2016, after years performing on the street and on stage, I was looking for more connection and wanted to explore the world. So, I decided to try a different path.

Since then, I've been traveling through many countries, sharing travel stories and songs in a show written especially to be performed in the intimacy of the living rooms of houses, apartments, and community spaces.

It is a special experience to share music without the distance a stage creates. Like this, we can live the stories together.

Ready to host a house concert?

So let me explain how this works (practicalities):

- You invite some people for a "House Concert Session", all gathered together in your living room (invite as many people as your space can hold).
- I arrive to perform and connect with you and your guests, friends, family, colleagues and anyone else you'd like to welcome.
- I perform my show acoustically (so no worries for the neighbors, you should actually invite them).
- There is a hat for donations.

I support my life and travel expenses purely on a donation-basis (See our manifesto: the Economy of Love). So it's helpful if you can ask your guests to bring some money along in advance (as a general guide, around the price of a movie ticket).

See a short trailer of the show here.

Listen to some music samples here.

Read some testimonials here.

Find much more on my website: merime.org

If you need some info to make a FB event, this is here.

If you want to invite your guest with an email you can copy and paste info from here.

With much gratitude,

Merime